

Rights of Women outreach training programme 2007

We are offering two exciting new courses

● Black and Minority Ethnic women and violence ●

Do you work with BME women who are experiencing violence?

An overview of the legal rights and remedies available to BME women who are at risk of or who have experienced

- forced marriage
- female genital mutilation
- trafficking
- problems with immigration and asylum as a result of these forms of violence

Recognising that violence against women takes many forms and that appropriate and accurate legal information is not always available, this course is essential for those supporting or providing services for all women.

● Domestic violence and the law – updated ●

Do you support women who are experiencing domestic violence?

To coincide with the introduction of the Domestic Violence Crime and Victims Act 2004, a practical course to enable you to support women seeking protection from domestic violence from the civil law including

- non-molestation and occupation orders
- who can apply
- how to make an application
- enforcement

Each participant will receive a copy of the newly revised Rights of Women Domestic Violence DIY Injunction Handbook

Rights of Women works to attain justice and equality by informing, educating and empowering women on their legal rights. Founded in 1975, we are a not for profit voluntary organisation. Our core services include two advice lines which offer free, confidential legal advice to women. We also specialise in providing high quality, practical and accredited legal training in the area of women's rights. Our courses are especially popular with community and voluntary organisations working directly with women. Our outreach training programme is valued for making the law transparent, accessible and user friendly, giving service providers the knowledge and skills to enable their service users to access justice.
